Heart of a Dog is a novella by Russian author Mikhail Bulgakov. A biting satire of the Stalin era, it explores themes of reality and fantasy, 'Real' and 'Surreal' being intertwined, and is often considered a kind of 'Russian magical realism'. The novel delves into philosophical and social themes with a political background subtly and indirectly reminiscent of the 'Stalin' era. It is written with a delicate and artistic expression, sometimes bordering on the surreal, and yet it is grounded in the harsh realities of the time.
